ſition! and how irrevocable the change! when Corruption puts on Incorruption, and Mortal puts on Immortality*.

Let me then perſuade you, Reader, to dwell ſeriouſly and daily on the thought; that ſoon it may be, ere another night, thy ſoul will be required of thee; and if this ſhould be the caſe, O where (haſt thou good ground to hope) will thy ſoul exiſt, and thy lot and portion be aſſigned by GOD, the great Judge of all for Eternity!

ETERNITY! thou pleaſing, dreadful thought! CATO.

* 1 Corinthians xv. 53.

PART II.

BOB SHORT The Country 'Squire LONDON, 1781 HASKOLL COLLECTION, THE BODLEIAN LIBRARY Octavo